

Civil Society Hall of Fame Honour for Lohit Library Network

September 7, 2016

ITANAGAR, Sep 6: Lohit Youth Library Network and its coordinator popularly known as Uncle Moosa in Arunachal have been inducted into the prestigious Civil Society Hall of Fame-2016. Civil Society, a New Delhi based Magazine, which has been advocating civilian rights, instituted the "The Civil Society Hall of Fame award to felicitate, recognise and extend support to ordinary people who have been working for civilian rights and to better Indian governmental system.

The basic role of this award is to spread awareness and celebrate the role of people working towards creating a better democracy.

The Lohit Youth Library Network, which has entered its 10th year, has been a unique people's library movement with support of volunteers from all over India including Arunachal Pradesh. The Library Network has been conferred this prestigious honour for their spirited efforts to promote the joy of reading in remote villages and areas across Lohit Valley.

A five-member team of the Library Network will attend the felicitation function being organized by the Civil Society magazine on November 12, 2016 in New Delhi.

The Coordinator, Lohit Youth Libraries, felt that this honour would be a morale booster to many more youth to come forward to replicate similar efforts.
