Learning workshop for children held

TEZU, Jul 25: The Medo Youth Library organised a four-day creative learning workshop for primary & middle school students here from July 20 at its library premises.

The activities in the workshop included poems, word games, arithmetic is fun games, riddles, story reading training, story-telling, sketching & painting and creative story writing. The participants were also introduced to info-bits on 'Know Our Arunachal.

Á statement from the Library said that "the children thoroughly enjoyed all activities and keenly involved themselves in the workshop, proving that a library is a place where learning becomes fun". The participants above class four wrote their own stories which were read out on the last day. The children below class four drew.

A drawing competition was also held among the participants.

The workshop was conducted by the senior volunteers of Lohit Youth Library Network, led by Anika Kri, and supported by Rehanso Boo and Laxmi Ngadong.
